Forecast For Highland & Eilean Siar
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Wednesday 27 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rain sleet and snow on Thursday, far north drier.

This Evening and Tonight:
Mostly dry clear and cold with widespread frost, this severe over snow cover. Later in night southern areas clouding over with some sleet and snow spreading to Lochaber and perhaps some rain for Barra by morning, where becoming breezy. Minimum temperature -6 deg C (21 deg F).

Thursday:
Sleet and snow gradually extending north.across Highland, mostly rain and hill snow for the Isles. The far north staying mainly dry. Freshening easterly winds. Maximum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Remaining sleet and snow clearing south early Friday then sunny spells, a few wintry showers in north. The weekend sunny but cold, a few coastal wintry showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.